NOTICES TO CORRESPONDENTS.

It is requested that all communications relating to Subscriptions, Advertisements, &c., be addressed to the "Manager, Hongkong Telegraph" and not to the Editor.

Letters on Editorial matters to be sent to "The Editor" and not to individual members of the staff.

Communications intended for publication must be accompanied by the name and address of the writers, not necessarily for publication; but as evidence of good faith.

While the columns of the Hongkong Telegraph will always be open for the fair discussion by correspondents of all questions affecting public interests, it must be distinctly understood that the Editor does not in any way hold himself responsible for opinions thus expressed.

TO ADVERTISERS.

Advertisers are requested to forward all notices intended for insertion in that day's issue not later than THREE O'CLOCK so as not to retard the early publication of the paper.

TO SUBSCRIBERS.

Arrangements have been made to publish The Hongkong Telegraph daily at a rate. Subscribers in the central districts who do not receive their copies before FIVE O'CLOCK will oblige by at once communicating with the Manager.

The Hongkong Telegraph

HONGKONG, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1882.

In an article headed "Ex-Minister ANGELL's Testimony," the San Francisco Evening Bulletin of the 8th ult. says:—Ex-Minister ANGELL speaks fairly in some particulars on the Chinese question. His fairness is the result of knowledge he has acquired. As might be expected, he differs radically from the sentimentalists who forced themselves into the discussion without the slightest acquaintance with the facts. There is no problem that can ever come up to puzzle mankind which these persons will not undertake to solve right out of hand. They comprehend it all intuitively. It was not a more daring flight than usual for them to assume that they knew more about the Chinese than the people of California, who have for a quarter of a century been confronted with the questions, social, political and economical, which their coming has thrown up. From their inner consciousness they at once reached the conclusion that we were all wrong. It was not difficult to find the inspired idiot who considered that our people were children—perhaps spoiled children, who did not know what was good for them. The voice was heard in the Press and the pulpit celebrating the virtues of the interesting heathens.

Behind all this there was another speculation of a more material nature. There was evidently a secret belief that the Celestial in time would enter the Eastern communities and offer to perform whatever work was required of him at unheard of low prices. There seemed to be a widespread notion that the pagan was a fanatical exponent of cheap labor, and that his mission was to find out how low were the wages paid anybody so as to underbid him. At a pinch, in the minds of some, he would be prepared to work for nothing, and even give a "little something" for privilege. There was the same close, but at the same time absurd, calculation at the bottom of the greenback craze, which once overspread those regions. Behind "the battle-stained greenback," "the best currency the world ever saw," there was an expectation that if non-convertible paper money were set up, everybody would find his pockets stuffed with Government notes every morning when he rose.

During all that period there did not seem to be the least glimmer that adroit manipulators behind the scenes were playing on their sympathies, in order to scale the debts which they had contracted. Similarly, when the Chinese "boom" was worked up, these persons were not sharp enough to see that they were being made the dupes of the most skillful set of man stealers and slave dealers that for a long time have appeared in the history of the world. BEECHER's cheery voice, and CUM COOK's hoarse bass were heard, of course, in the chorus. They had come to San Francisco, spent an evening in Chinatown, and in that brief period reached conclusions on the Chinese question totally at variance with those which, after a quarter of a century of earnest study, our people had deliberately formed. There was a coarse insolence in the newspapers, which echoed their opinions, which for a time was insufferable. It was plain that not one of them had mastered the question upon which they were writing so glibly.

But ex-Minister ANGELL had the advantage of a sojourn in China for nearly a year in an official capacity which gave him exceptional opportunities for observation. He has not reached exactly the same plane of thought as Californians on the subject. But he is not very far below. If he had lived among us for an equal length of time and had used his powers of observation with like effect there is not much doubt as to where he would stand to-day. In an address delivered at the Social Science Congress at Saratoga this gentleman pointed out the one-sided character of our treaties with China. He recited the annoyances which we experience in trading in that country, and among them the "unjust opposition to the passage of goods on their way to the interior by corrupt officials."

This, perhaps, was the mildest way in which the case could be stated. By treaty, China has agreed to charge 5 per cent duty on American goods and 2½ per cent for transit permits—making a total of 7½ per cent. But notwithstanding this agreement it levies a third tax, to any amount it pleases, on the same goods when they arrive at their destination and before they are distributed. This is a complete evasion of treaty obligation. Mr. ANGELL might have added that an American cannot travel for more than 100 li, outside of a treaty port, without a passport, and that a passport is usually a very difficult thing to get. A passport is never issued for a longer period than twelve Chinese months, and in no case is renewable.

But on one or two other points Mr. ANGELL's views were not altogether sound. He is evidently still a captive to the sentimentality which the Chinese offer so liberally in the case of opium. He professes belief in the statement made to him in China, that if the British opium trade were abolished the cultivation of the "poppy" would be suppressed. This thing has been dreamed in the ears of the British for a long time, but they have never taken any stock in it. If the Chinese Government were sincere, it would institute reform at home before attempting it on the outside. It will never get a hearing for its opium complaint till it shows the reality of its convictions by its works. Under our recent treaty with China, Americans are prohibited from engaging in the opium trade. But the invariable testimony of our Consuls in that country, is that there is no Chinese ship which is not engaged in that traffic, and that nearly all the officials have interests in it, and are growing rich out of it, and partly at our expense.

The Chinese appear to understand thoroughly the article of sentimentality that is most taking with some of our philanthropists, who, notwithstanding the alleged broadness of their sympathies, always keep a sharp lookout for No. 1, and they ply them with it in the most liberal manner. They are adepts in the mixture which is so taking in some places, especially where they are clocks, or calicoes in the background. But what Mr. ANGELL has to say on the general subject, is certain to have the effect of dispelling some, at least, of the misty and absurd notions which have prevailed in relation to the Chinese question in some parts of the Eastern States.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

A REGULAR Lodge of St. John, No. 618, S.C., will be held at Freemason's Hall, Zealand Street, to-night, the 13th instant, at 8 for 8.30, precisely.

A REGULAR meeting of Perseverance Lodge, No. 1165, will be held in Freemason's Hall, Zealand Street, on Tuesday evening, the 17th instant, at 8 o'clock, precisely.

THE small steamer constructed at Kowloon Docks by the Hongkong and Whampoa Dock Company, Limited, for Messrs. Blackhead & Co., will be launched at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

THE American ship Phineas Pendleton will undock at Kowloon this afternoon, giving place to the steamer Thales. The Coptic will undock, and the Spanish steamer Jolano will dock at Sam-shui-po to-morrow.

A CONTEMPORARY suggestively points out that the Victoria Cross—the special decoration for personal valour under fire in the British army—has occasionally been won by a lord, but never by a Prince of the blood.

WE regret to learn that the German brig Auguste, Captain Reiss, well known on this coast, was totally lost on the Pescadores on the 1st instant. Full particulars of the wreck have not yet reached us; but it is satisfactory to know that all hands were saved. The Captain is at present in Amoy.

It is stated that in Asia there are about 150,000,000 Mahomedans, and in Africa 50,000,000. Of the Asiatics there are 40,000,000 in China, 30,000,000 among the Malays, 40,000,000 in India, and 7,000,000 in Afghanistan and Central Asia. In Arabia, the headquarters of the faith, there are not more than 12,000,000.

WE are told that the wearing of jewellery is going out of fashion in England. It is regarded as vulgar to be seen with a display of jewels unless on great occasions. Bare arms and throats are the rule in fashionable society, the wearing of bangles, bracelets and chains being left to those who do not follow the newest styles. If this fashion remains long in force jewellers are likely to have a bad time of it.

A HOME paper says:—"Among the numerous visitors to Cetewayo was Sir John Hennessey, the great Governor of Hongkong. Mr. Shepstone acted as interpreter on the occasion and explained to Cetewayo that Sir John was the Governor of an English Colony. The Zulu ex-King seemed delighted with the honour conferred upon him and inquired into various details concerning the administration of Sir John. Sir John answered through the interpreter and expressed the hope that he would one day have the pleasure of visiting Cetewayo in his own country, a wish which was received by the Zulu ex-King with the utmost cordiality."

ARABIAN manners and customs are in many respects amusing to the outer world. An Arab, on entering a house, removes his shoes but not his hat. He mounts his horse upon the right side, while his wife milks the cow on the left side. In writing a letter, he puts nearly all his compliments on the outside. With him the point of a pin is his head, whilst his head is made of his heel. His head must be wrapped up warm, even in summer, while his feet may well enough go naked in winter. Every article of merchandise which is liquid he weighs, and he measures wheat, barley, and a few other articles. He reads and writes from right to left. He eats scarcely anything for breakfast, about as much for dinner, but after his work of the day is done he sits down to a full meal swimming in oil, or better yet, boiled butter. His sons eat with him, but the females of his house wait till his lordship is done. He rides a donkey when travelling, his wife walking behind. He laughs at the idea of walking in the street with his wife, and of ever vacating his seat for a woman. He knows no use for chairs, tables, knives, forks, or even spoons, unless they are wooden or bone. Bedsteads, bureaus, and fireplaces may be placed in the same category. If he be an artisan he does work sitting, perhaps uses his feet to hold what his hands are engaged upon. He drinks cold water with a spoon, but never bathes in it unless his home be on the seashore. He is rarely seen drunk, is deficient in affection for his kindred, has little curiosity and no animation, no wish to improve his mind, and no desire to surround himself with the comforts of life.

SAYS the San Francisco Morning Call:—"The country will hardly mourn, but his trainers and backers are feeling despondent in New York because of the departure for his English home of Mr. 'Tug' Wilson. The gentleman's arrival on American soil led to an immediate revival of the 'manly art' in sporting circles. While he continued among the boys, nothing was heard but reports of future 'engagements,' in which 'Tug' was to be an actor. No person since the days of Julius Cæsar could more appropriately exclaim, 'I came, I saw, I conquered,' than the 'Tug.' He had been but a short time in New York till it was arranged that Mr. Sullivan should attempt to knock him out of the ring in four rounds—failing to do which he was to pay Mr. Wilson $1,000. He did fail, and the money was paid over. This, however, was but a small item of Mr. Wilson's luck. His share of the gate receipts for the evening of the 'set-to' was $11,000; so that he might well boast that he made more money in one night in the United States than he could have earned in England for the balance of his life. We dwell thus on the history of Mr. Wilson because he has affirmed that he intends becoming an adopted citizen, and if he does, there are at least three pugilistic encounters in which he is provisionally pledged to appear, which will again render him conspicuous as a public character. Mr. Wilson declared on his arrival in New York, without qualification or reservation, that he intended to become a citizen. Now there is a contingency attached to his resolution. Perhaps he discovers that the work laid out for him in the line of his profession is not so desirable as some might suppose, and his only way of escaping it is to get the Atlantic between him and his promised antagonists. His wife claims a voice in his affairs. She writes him to come home, and on the eve of his departure he said to a friend: 'If she's willing, I'll be back, sure; but one thing is pretty certain: if she says 'No,' I'll have to stay.' I won't forget, though, to raise the 'blooming country, and tell her it's the best I ever lived in.' If Mr. Wilson should exert his powers of persuasion on his wife, and induce her to accompany him to this free land, his happiness would doubtless be complete. We are not informed whether the lady possesses any accomplishments to render her conspicuous with her sex. If not, her husband has already achieved sufficient American notoriety for both."

SAYS the Morning Call of Sept. 6th.—England and the United States have two friendly matches in the course of the present month, in which the representatives of the two nations will contend for supremacy. The first is the international rifle match which takes place at Creedmoor, between a team of twelve British Volunteers and an American team, and the second a rowing match, between the Hillsdales and the Thames Four-oared Crew. The latter match is now attracting the more attention on account of the disinclination manifested by British oarsmen to meet the Hillsdales. This disinclination is not supposed to arise from a fear of the result so much as from a fastidiousness on the part of the British amateurs in respect to matching themselves against a crew which is composed in part of professionals. So far as the rifle match is concerned, the British will send their best men. The American team has been carefully selected, but it is reported that practice outside the team is fully as good as the team's practice. The American eagle will temporarily hide its head if both matches should be won by the British lion.

THE announcement of the death of Mr. Thomas Morton Fitzhardinge Berkeley recalls an act of domestic self-sacrifice which few would be found to perform. The story of the Earl of Berkeley and Miss Cole is well known. The earl undoubtedly married her publicly in 1796. By a series of forgeries and perjuries, according to the decision of the House of Lords, he endeavoured to prove that he had married her privately at the beginning of their intimacy before their eldest son was born. The judgment of the House of Lords in effect gave the earldom to Mr. Berkeley, but he refused to take the seat or use the title, and so cast a slur on his mother's fame and his brother's legitimacy. In Scotland and every European country but England, the Roman law which recognised legitimization by subsequent marriage prevails, and the dilemma put before Mr. Berkeley could not have occurred. It is open to some doubt whether on this point the foreign law is not the best. If the question were brought before Parliament now by the bishops as it was in the days of the Statute of Merton, it is doubtful whether the Commons would answer, as the barons did then, with one voice, "Nolumus leges Anglie mutari."

A WRITER for the Boston Herald went to a matinee performance of Pinafire, and found that he was half the paying audience, as he was the only person in the dollar part of the house, while the rest others were in the ten-cent gallery. "This made me arrogant," he says. "I scornfully repelled an offer of my dollar back, and explained to the manager that the matter betwixt him and me was in the nature of a contract; that he was, in law and honor bound to have Pinafire performed before me. I refused all advances toward a compromise. A whole proscenium box for that evening had no temptation. My case was founded in equity, and I triumphed. The orchestra outnumbering me nine to one, played an overture conscientiously, and when 'Sir Joseph' came on board with his sisters, cousins, and aunts I found myself confronted by an assemblage of thirty-four persons. I felt my dread responsibility as an audience, with all the applause and hisses practically at my command. What could I do if that company and orchestra should take a notion to turn and rend me? I fancy that I gave no outward token of fear, however, but leaned back brazenly in my chair, and tried to do my whole duty. When 'Josephine' cut her 'suior-jolly-born' song short by two verses, I stamped, clapped and cried 'hi-yi!' until she gave me the rest for an encore; when 'Sir Joseph' and 'Dick Dead-eye' took no pains to be funny I brought them up to their work with a hiss; when 'Little Buttercup' sang the whole of her first song without leaving out a word or a bit of the business I applauded wildly, and when 'Hebe' came out into the auditorium to sit down and expostulate with me I said: 'Go back behind the footlights and earn your salary, Miss Sinclair. It makes no difference to you whether there's only one of me or five hundred. I'm getting my dollar's worth, and you're earning your $50 a week—or less.' Thus the entertainment was concluded to the auditor's satisfaction."

CLOSE together in the opinion of the Greek poet Euphron, are the poet and the cook. Both, he says, attain, by an ingenious audacity, the apex of their art. And to show the intellectual daring of the cook, he tells the following story:—"Nicomedes, the great King of Bithynia, being once on a time some twelve days' journey from the sea, had a sudden longing for a loach. Some lexicographers explain the word used by Euphron as 'smell,' but the general consensus is in favor of the former interpretation. His cook served him up in twenty minutes this very fish. Everybody wondered—for the season, to be midwinter. It is said that once while Seiden sat in the assembly of divines at Westminster a warm debate arose about the distance from Jericho to Jerusalem. Those who contended for the longer distance were about to yield to the argument of their adversaries, that fishes were carried from one city to the other, when the celebrated lawyer cried out, 'Perhaps the fishes were salted,' upon which the dispute was renewed with increased vigor. But the loach in the present case was quite fresh. How, then, was it procured? French cooks can, it is well known, make a delicious soup out of an old shoe, but the curious device of the cook of Nicomedes will be found equally clever. He took a turnip and cut it into the figure of a loach. He then boiled it gently over a slow fire, added a certain quantity of oil and salt—not that indefinite amount familiar to us in modern cookery books as a 'pinch,' but measured with exact and learned discrimination—and completed the dish by the sprinkling of a dozen grains of black pepper. Nicomedes, devouring the disguised turnip with a good appetite, told his friends that it was the finest loach he ever ate in his life. It is surely but a just reward of merit that cooks possessed of such powers as these should receive those high salaries we read of in the records of Imperial Rome."

I HEARD a story the other night about Mr. Bright, says the correspondent of a provincial journal, which is too good to be lost. About six weeks ago a distinguished Chinaman was travelling in this country, but, like most celestials, he had but a faint idea of men and manners in England. He had no chapman, as some of these gentlemen have, but in course of time he found his way to the House of Commons, and he sent in his card to Mr. Bright. The ex-Chancellor of the Duchy at once responded to the call, and in the course of conversation, which was conducted in English, for the Celestial was a good English scholar, Mr. Bright asked of him, "How did you know me?" The Celestial confessed that his knowledge of the "Tribune of the People" was derived from the effigy in Madame Tussaud's. And such is fame! The story must be true, for Mr. Bright tells it himself.

TRAINING for the Hongkong Races of 1883—if on a somewhat limited scale—has actually commenced. Whilst riding along Queen's Road East shortly after six o'clock this morning, we observed a bay pony, saddled and bridled, being led towards Wong-nai-chong by a mafu whose face seemed somewhat familiar. On coming close up we at once recognised the pony as Mr. MacOni's bay griffin—the animal we alluded to the other day as having some defect in its internal anatomy. This looked like business so we trotted smartly down to the Grand Stand, and waited. Presently a Shanghai riding boy appeared on the scene, and a few minutes later a form familiar to all frequenters of the race course hove in sight. That form was the ubiquitous MacOni himself. After wasting some time in driving a herd of "Tailors'" buffaloes from the track, the bay griffin was mounted and trotted twice round the course, moving in easy style, and behaving himself like an old stager. He was not cantered; perhaps the noble owner did not wish us to see too much at once. However, we are happy to be able to chronicle that business has really begun, and as training will no doubt become general during the next few weeks, we would suggest to the Clerk of the Course that it would improve matters greatly if "Tailors'" buffaloes could find fresh fields and pastures new for their morning diversions.

WE hear from Saigon of a rather laughable incident which occurred at a performance in Signor Chiarini's Circus there. The patronage of H.E. the Governor had been obtained, and not wishing the affair to be shabby, the Signor arranged a monster programme for the occasion. The Governor's band of instrumentalists was present, and led by Chiarini's own "chef d'orchestre." After the inevitable "Mousquetaire de la reine" had been received with great applause, and an infliction of a most execrable nature had been bolstered on the audience by Angelo, the funeral clown, and Sarony, Mr. Fred Watson appeared to do the "all nations" trick act scene. The impersonation of Rob Roy was a success, and the enthusiasm of the throng knew no bounds as the inimitable Fred, like a flash of greased lightning, changed his attire to that of a French soldier, the band breaking into the Marseillaise hymn. Alas, a sad change then came. Watson's next "dart" was as a British Jack tar, and the band very appropriately struck up "Twins in Trafalgar's Bay." Oh Gehenna; this was too much. H.E. the Governor is evidently a man of heart and knows a thing or two. With one bound he seized his chapeau and was out of the marquee before anyone could say knife, or guess the cause of his exit. A moment's consideration explained to some the reason of the undignified bolt. Can the recollection of that day when our one eyed and one armed gunner went to glory for "England, home, and beauty" still rankle? It seems rather like it—in the Saigon breast at least.

A PARADE and inspection of the Government and Volunteer Fire Brigades took place at the Central Fire Brigade Station yesterday afternoon at half past four o'clock. The parade was a most imposing one, nearly the whole of the fire extinguishing machines in the colony being on the spot. Position was taken up on the Praya, No. 2 Government Engine being abreast of the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank, the Insurance Company's engine ranging next to the westward, then the new No. 4, flanked by No. 6 manual, supported by No. 3, steam, the whole being bordered in by the engine recently purchased by the Silk hongs, and worked by their own men, who were very tastefully attired in a smartly got up uniform. A large concourse of spectators were present to witness the ongoings of our daring firemen and the grand spectacle well repaid the time thus spent. The ground taken up extended from the City Hall to Peddar's wharf. The most prominent members of the Brigade who were on the ground were Messrs. Creagh, Superintendent, Carvalho, acting deputy, Parker, fire clerk, foreman Oley and Whitehead, Wassenius, Government engineer in charge, Mr. Rose, and Mr. Glass in charge of the Insurance Company's engine. The work performed was mainly of a testing character, such as throwing the water in an upright direction, and out to sea. The whole of the engines were in capital trim and behaved handsomely, the most noteworthy incident being the shortening and lengthening of the hose attached to the new No. 4 Government engine for the purpose of testing its capacity under the different circumstances. The engine answered the call very satisfactorily, throwing a great body of water to an immense height with the long and short hose attached. The large fire escape was out under the charge of foreman Whitehead who put some seven or eight members of the Brigade through the escape drill in a highly commendable manner. On the whole the parade was the most successful at which we have ever, by our presence, assisted. We congratulate the entire Brigades for the smart manner in which everything was done; and say that the Engine, recently purchased by the silk hongs, is a valuable addition to our fire extinguishing paraphernalia.

THE Sydney Bulletin says that Albert Edward, on hearing of the massacre of Englishmen by the artful Arabi, exclaimed: "Mamma; my country calls 'To Arms'—I must away. Just hold me tight and let me at them! Mamma; con apassionato: 'Stay, my son, thou must not go; those horrid people will knock you down, and dirty all your good clothes; and, perhaps, stick things into you.' Albert Edward, as he sorrowfully unlocks his armour: 'Mal thou hast saved Egypt, but lost thy son—go down and get me the comed beef-and-pickles.'"

WHILE coming in from Canton this morning the Powan, when within about 200 yards from the wharf, ran foul of a large passage junk and sank her. The damage done to the Powan is of a very trifling character only a few square feet of the wooden side of the vessel being smashed in. We have not been able to learn the full particulars of the collision, but understand that no lives have been lost. The junk is sunk by the forepart, her stern being well out of the water. When visiting the wreck this forenoon we noticed a sampan containing five or six Chinese at work inspecting the wreck, but are afraid that the rough weather will prevent her being raised to-day. Whatever cargo the junk may have had on board is likely to be totally destroyed.

THE bad luck which so persistently stuck to the talented Circus proprietor and horse trainer, Signor Chiarini, during his stay here, and also in Shanghai, seems to be following him up with a vengeance. The Signor was not at all well for some few days previous to his departure for Saigon, and was suffering from acute inflammation of the eye which got much worse on the way down and ended in the Signor having the eye taken out altogether. The inflammation appears to have spread to the other eye, and very grave fears are entertained that the Signor will become totally blind. In addition to the above misfortune, one of the performing horses had an accident to its patella joint, and it seems that the veterinary surgeon, not having thoroughly diagnosed the case, blistered the fetlock joint which caused mortification to set in from which the poor brute died. The chapter of accidents was not yet finished; the flesh of the delinquent animal was given to the tigers for chow chow, and a few days after the large male tiger died, it is believed from eating the horse flesh. Chiarini has gone to Bangkok and from there he intends visiting Singapore. We hear it is the Signor's intention to make for San Francisco as speedily as possible, and there sell off his show so that he can lie back for a spell and have his eye seen to by the best available talent. The Signor has our best sympathies in his misfortunes, and we trust that his eyesight may long be spared him. Chiarini is a fine judge of a horse, a talented showman and a very liberal minded man; his departure from the ranks of circus proprietors would leave a blank which it would not be easy to fill.

UNION INSURANCE SOCIETY OF CANTON.

The following is the report for presentation to the shareholders at the ninth ordinary meeting, to be held at the Society's Offices, at 3 o'clock p.m., on Friday, the 27th instant:—

The Directors have now the pleasure to submit to the Shareholders the Report of the business of the Society for the year 1881, and for the six months ending with June, 1882.

The net Premium collected for the year after deducting Reinsurances and Reinsurances, amounts to $684,775.

After providing for the payment of an Interest Bonus and Dividend as declared in May last, and adding the usual proportion to the Reserve, thus appropriating $575,175, the balance is $109,600, and as there are liabilities and claims still pending the Directors propose carrying this sum forward to be dealt with hereafter.

1882.—The position of the Society for the present year as far as can be ascertained is as follows:—

Balance of Working account to 30th June, 1882, $109,600
Call on Premium earned since 1st July, 1882, $109,600
Returns, and Charges, $109,600

At an Extraordinary Meeting of Shareholders held at the Head Office on the 18th September last it was unanimously resolved to convert the Society into a Limited Company, which Resolution was confirmed on the 1st instant and the necessary steps are now being taken to carry this into effect.

IN accordance with clause 10 of the Articles of Association, Messrs. P. R. R. and F. B. Johnson retire, but offer themselves for re-election.

AUTHORITY.
Messrs. J. H. Cox and A. W. R. retire but offer themselves for re-election.

By order of the Board,
DOUGLAS JONES, Acting Secretary.

RACING NOTES.

The prominent supporters of racing in Hongkong will be strongly represented at the forthcoming Shanghai meeting—that is, if the published programme may be taken as a criterion. Mr. Paul apparently holds the strongest hand, his entries in the Shanghai Stakes numbering 12 in all, and including such celebrities as Black Satin, Rose, Shamrock, Financier, Sunlight, Tajmahal, Braw Chiel, Hurricane, and Hualachan, besides the "crack" griffins, Snowflight, Hornpipe, and the 1,000 talens Sprite. In addition to these, Sirocco, a cleverly shaped pony that showed good form during training in Hongkong last season, but unfortunately went amiss at race time, while Cloud (we presume this is the subscription griffin that ran so well in Mr. Sassoon's colors in the Valley Stakes and German Cup) and the two mule griffin Reefers are entered in the Hack Stakes. It would therefore almost appear as if the great Hongkong sportsman meant business in Shanghai, as he would scarcely have entered his ponies in the fashion he has done unless he intended starting them for the various races. It strikes me as being somewhat singular that Sirocco should have been omitted from the entry for the St. Ledger, the more especially as he is reported to be going like great guns at exercise. I remember most vividly seeing this pony once gallop two miles with old Tajmahal in a style which stamped him as a stayer of the first water; and on this show with the great pull he would have had in the weights in the St. Leger, the little dun—is he a dun or a bay, by the way?—must have been handy at the finish. Of course if Hualachan is in his old form Mr. Paul's policy is easily understood, as Sirocco at his best was hardly a match for the runner up to Driving "and in the Keeschong Cup; but then Hualachan has been lame, and so will scarcely exhibit his true form. Hurricane, I always considered inferior to Sirocco; but with such reputed flyers as Homppee, Snowlight, and Sprite to select from, "the black and scarlet" should be prominently borne by whatever is entrusted with the stable money. With Black Satin, Rose, and Sunlight for the sprint races, and the old stagers, Braw Chief and Tajmahal for the long distance events, Mr. Paul ought to have an unprecedentedly successful meeting at Shanghai, and he must also hold an unusually strong hand—even for him—for Hongkong. It would appear as if Reefe were intended specially for the Hongkong Derby; however, we shall be better able to judge of that later on. Mr. Kerfoot has entered Wild Dash and First Comet for quite a number of races at Shanghai, and no doubt the first named, if fit and well, will do the stable yeoman's service. First Comet is the best pony I have ever seen raced in China; but if it be true that he has again lamed himself, it will be the safest plan to say nothing about him just now. Mr. Kerfoot has nothing in the St. Leger; but the names of Azalea, Amethyst, and Filbert (the much talked of skewball) appear in the Hack Stakes entries. It is therefore quite evident that the strength of this stable has been specially reserved for the home meeting, where Wild Dash, First Comet (if he is all right) and the above-named griffins will prove a thorn in the path of the all-conquering Mr. Paul. At present, it appears as if all the great events in the Hongkong programme will lie between the champions of the "yellow and white" of Mr. Paul; and the wasp-jacket of Mr. Kerfoot; that is, unless prejudice is sent south to give our local "sports" a view of the best pony that ever carried the popular "yellow and black" of the genial Fungus. Mr. Henry stands responsible for four nominations in the Shanghai Stakes, these being filled by White Knight, Dictator, Incubus, and an old acquaintance, the spotted Too-too, the three first named also representing the stable in the St. Leger. In the Hack Stakes Mr. Henry has entered Pelham, Devereux, Rienzi, Zanoni, and Frascuelo (the last name is a familiar one in connection with the past season's training operations) and no doubt one of these five will be the Derby champion of this capital sportsman. Mr. St. Andrews has a powerful team in the St. Leger, including Huntsman, our last Derby winner; and his lot of 11 in the Shanghai Stakes includes the celebrities Driving Cloud, Jolly Friar, and Merry Monk. The names of Second Violin and Gang Forward are familiar to Hongkong race goers, but the bay has incurred very few liabilities at the Northern Meeting and the other one is too uncertain to threaten much danger when pitted against first class opponents. But little appears to be known about the griffins destined to carry Mr. Gordon's primrose and blue jacket at Wong-choi, and it is just possible that the stable may have to rely on the subscription griffins to uphold its interests in what is certain to prove the most exciting Hongkong Derby on record. There are several other owners racing in Shanghai who, I am led to believe, will unfurl their banners on our beautiful course next February; but as nothing can be definitely known until after the Shanghai meeting I prefer not to commit myself to any statements, which might possibly prove inaccurate. I observe the name of Mr. Risk, with a new lot of "Straths," on the Shanghai programme. It is to be hoped that this keen old stager will see his way to once again try his luck on the course where Strathavon and Strathpeffer won so many laurels for the famous "blue and rose."

CHEAP DIVORCE.

Among the many other good things which the American Bar Association did at its recent meeting was the passage of a resolution in favor of the adoption by all the States of a uniform divorce law, to abate the shocking abuses now perpetrated. It is a frequent and well-grounded complaint that lawyers, who, above all others, are familiar with judicial abuses and are competent to reform them, manifest an apathy that goes a long way to confirm the popular prejudice that the legal profession is dependent for its prosperity on the imperfections of the law and prefers their continuance. Therefore it is a cheering sign to see the American Bar Association speak out against the evils of cheap and easy divorce. They went further than the mere passage of a resolution, for a committee reported the draft of an act intended to accomplish what the resolution recommended. The points of this draft are thus stated: "It prescribes that the jurisdiction of the State in divorce matters shall be confined to cases in which both parties were domiciled in the State when the action was commenced; or in which the plaintiff was domiciled and the defendant was personally served with process within the State; or in which one of the parties was domiciled and one of them actually resided in the State for a year before the commencement of the action. These provisions, it will be observed, would absolutely exclude from the Courts of States adopting them divorce suits in which neither party had a legal residence in that State, and would thus put an end to the most notorious of the breaches of justice and decency which are now possible in some States. But this is still only one of the numerous evils of the divorce Courts. The causes of action for divorce and the procedure are equally in need of an overhauling. One change which we believe will have to be adopted before there is any real reform is the abolition of the secrecy secured by taking testimony before Commissioners or by Courts sitting in chambers. The excuse for privacy is to avoid public demoralization by the airing of family scandals, which is desirable enough, so long as it does not produce another greater danger of demoralization in a different way. The greatest danger of demoralization to which society can be exposed is the knowledge that divorces can be procured in absolute privacy. This as a source of corruption, compares with the other as the Mississippi does with a rivulet. If anything in the world will ever destroy the institution of the family it is secret divorce. It is a "pestilence that walketh in darkness." It transforms society into a whitened sepulchre, and it must be reformed out of existence.—Alta.

AMOV.

We hear that an extensive robbery took place on the Amoy side last night at the house of a Cantonese. The steamer Diamante arrived yesterday from Manila, and according to the Regulations was put into quarantine outside. A large and influential meeting was held at the Club on Saturday evening to take into consideration the subject of the circular issued by the Consuls on Friday last. Mr. R. J. Forrest, H.B.M. Consul having been voted to the chair, explained that the object of the meeting was to discuss the present insecure state of Kulangsu and to devise means for protecting property on the island, several daring robberies having occurred during the past few nights. Mr. H. Butler, Acting Consul for Germany then rose and said that it would probably expedite matters if he put the following proposition before the meeting, at once, viz:—That the sum of $130 be placed at the disposal of the Treaty Power Consuls to serve as remuneration for a number of watchmen night to be employed during one month for the protection of the foreign houses on the island of Kulangsu. A long discussion then ensued. Mr. Butler explained that the intention of the Consuls was to employ a number of Manila watchmen to guard the property on the island for one month. It was hoped that at the expiration of this term the Chinese authorities would make their own arrangements. Mr. F. Cass rose and said that he denied that the responsibility of providing protection to foreigners on Kulangsu lay with the community, that the Taotai should be instructed at once to take active steps to capture the thieves. (Applause.) Mr. J. Grafton Cass suggested that a Scotch policeman be imported from Hongkong. Mr. R. H. Bruce was of opinion that Canton watchmen would serve the purpose. Mr. H. D. Brown strongly deprecated the employment of Manila men, and feared that a collision with the natives would be the result. Mr. Bain added that if any danger was contemplated of collision with the Chinese on Kulangsu, the Consul should be asked to request the Admiral to send a gunboat to the port at once. At this juncture Mr. Butler rose and stated that he would withdraw his motion, that the Consular Body had proposed the measure with a view to afford protection to property and that they were content to rest on their laurels. The Rev. J. Macgowan upon rising stated that the matter was one of the most vital importance and that immediate steps should be taken. From his own experience, his house having been visited twice by a gang of thieves, he was sure that the existing state of things could not be allowed to continue. Ladies and families on the island were kept in a constant state of excitement. If the Taotai would not adopt means of suppressing the evil, the Viceroy should be appealed to. (Loud applause.) Dr. Ringer testifying to the statement of the Rev. Mr. Macgowan, said that many of his patients were in a nervous condition and that if measures were not soon adopted, he could not be responsible for the consequences. Dr. Macleish spoke to the same effect. Mr. R. H. Pye, Consul for Denmark, then asked permission to put Mr. Butler's proposition to the meeting, in its original form. The Rev. J. Macgowan seconded the motion, which was carried by a majority of five. A discussion then ensued as to the means of providing the funds, and it was decided that a subscription list be circulated calling upon the community for contributions. A vote of thanks to the chairman terminated the meeting.—Quail 9th October.

W. P. MOORE begs to inform the Gentlemen of Hongkong and Visitors that he has reduced the price of Hair-Cutting to 50 cents. Having now in his employ three competent Assistants who are always in attendance, he guarantees to execute this class of work, in all its branches, with a perfection which cannot be excelled in any part of the World.

Hair-Cutting.....50 Cents.
Shampooing.....25 Cents.
Shaving.....25 Cents.
Trimming Beards.....25 Cents.

MONTHLY CUSTOMERS TAKEN AT REDUCED RATES. RAZORS MOST CAREFULLY RE-SET.

Mr. MOORE begs to recommend his GOGO SHAMPOO WASH to the public as unrivalled by any preparation ever produced for promoting the growth of the hair. The basis of this compound is made of soap root; the natives of the Philippine Islands never use anything else for washing their hair; they are never found bald, and it is quite common to see the females with hair from 5 to 6 feet long. By constantly using this Shampoo Wash as directed, you will NEVER BE BALD.

The proprietor offers the Wash to the public entirely confident that by its restorative properties it will without fail arrest decaying hair. It completely eradicates scurf, dandruff, and cures all diseases of the scalp. It does not contain any poisonous drugs. By its cooling properties it allays the itching and fever of the scalp, which is the great cause of people losing their hair.

Mr. MOORE has succeeded in being able to put this wash up in bottles without allowing it to ferment, and he will guarantee it to keep any length of time in any climate. [516]

THIS DAY.

Share business has been rather quieter than usual, this morning. A few sales of Docks at 53 per cent. premium for cash have been reported, and a few more shares are offered at the rate. Luzons have changed hands at 105 and 106 for cash, and it seems from inquiries as if a fair number of shares could be placed at the latter rate. On time, business has been put through at 110 for the end of the year. Steamboats show a further decline, offers to sell at 30 per share premium falling to lead to business. Banks remain very firm, with cash buyers at 138.

Nothing of much importance has transpired on the Stock Exchange since morning. Banks are rather firmer, and could be placed at 139; but beyond some minor transactions at 140 for the end of the month, no actual business has come under our notice. The Life Company's scrip has again been made a medium for investment and at an increased rate, 150 per share having been paid, and the shares are still in demand at the price. Steamboats after being rather unsteady for the past few days would appear to have reached a minimum quotation. At 29 all the shares on the market were quickly taken up, and buyers remain masters of the situation. There is no further change to report in Luzons and Docks are still offered for cash at 53. Marine and Fire Insurances remain a dead letter.
